DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 73 and 77-81 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by Araki et al (US 3,702,054) for reasons of record set forth in the last office action in numbered paragraph 2.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 76 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Araki et al (US 3,702,054) in view of anyone of JP 2000045174 A, JP 352148219 A and JP 60162868 A for reasons of record set forth in the last office action in numbered paragraph 4.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed on 12-04-06 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to Counsel's argument on page 3 regarding the efficiency of turbine being affected by the cross-sectional shape of brush seal filaments, it is respectfully submitted that Counsel's argument is not fully commensurate with the scope of the presently recited claims. Independent claim 73 is NOT directed to a turbine brush seal. Rather, this claim 73 as presently recited only requires "A [single] flexible filament ..." (word inserted), which may be used as an element of a "turbine brush seal".

On page 3, Counsel argued that "Araki et al. does not meet the definition of "n-point star" given in the present application. Examiner strongly disagrees. The star-shaped fibers of Araki et al are reasonably expected to have a commonly understood configuration of a star. That's precisely one of the main reasons why a graphic or pictorial illustration of the star-shaped fibers has not been provided. Additionally, there's nothing special about Applicant's n-point star as defined in the specification and illustrated in figures 13-16. Applicant's n-point stars basically are a typical or common configuration of a star. If the star-shaped fibers of Araki et al do not meet Applicant's n-point stars, then how do star-shaped fibers of Araki et al look like? It is suggested for Counsel to provide a single counter example, where a filament, which has been described to have a star-shaped cross-section (as this phrase would be reasonably understood in the art) and still fails to meet Applicant's definition of an n-point star. As for Counsel's argument that "Araki et al. actually teaches away from the use of a star-shaped cross-section.", While star-shaped carbon fibers are less preferred, Examiner disagrees with Counsel's assertion. In any event, this does not change the fact that, as correctly acknowledged and characterized by Applicant, Araki et al "... discloses that common shapes for carbon fibers include star shapes." (emphasis and bold-face added).

In summary, the claimed n-point star filament basically embraces a "common" cross-sectional configuration for carbon fibers, which is a star cross-sectional shape.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
